How much does a solar panel cost?

Less efficient polycrystalline panels are typically cheaper at $0.75 per watt, putting the price of a 400-watt panel at $300. The cost of a solar panel also depends on how you buy it.

Should you buy solar panels from a full-service installer?

If you purchase through a full-service installer, you will likely get a lower price for each panel than buying them individually from a retail store. It's worth noting (as we'll explore further below) that solar modules typically make up less than 20% of the overall cost of a home installation.

How long do solar panels last on a roof?

Solar panels are designed to last 25 to 30 years, and your roof needs to last just as long. We recommend taking care of any roof repairs before installing solar panels. It's more cost-effective than removing the panels and reinstalling them later. Get a thorough inspection of your roof now and take pictures.

How much does a solar panel cost in California?

California's average cost per watt is currently $2.47. The difference comes down to efficiency and materials: Monocrystalline panels are made from pure, single silicon crystals; various silicon fragments melted together are used to make polycrystalline panels. Monocrystalline panels have a solid black appearance.

On average, solar panels cost $8.77 per square foot of living space, after factoring in the 30% tax credit. However, the cost per square foot varies based on the size of the home. For example, the post-tax credit cost of solar panels for a 2,500-square-foot home is around $20,000 for a rate of $7.96 per square foot.
